CITY COUNCIL IN LENGTHY SESSION.

The regular meeting of the common council was held at the council room on Tuesday evening, Mayor Wheelan presiding. The session was a long one, it being nearly one o'clock when all the talk had been finished.

One of the matters that was discussed at length was the bill for clay from the Johnson & Hill basement. This amounted something over twelve hundred dollars, and some of the aldermen thought the charge was excessive. After some discussion it was decided to continue taking the clay, but to use the remainder of it for top dressing on the sandy streets on the east side.

The matter of passing a fire limit ordinance was discussed and such ordinance was submitted and it was referred back to the sewer committee so that additional territory might be included in the ordinance. It will probably come up again at the next meeting.

The matter of selling the city lands was also discussed and it was decided to push the sale of them as soon as possible.

A brickacker ordinance was passed by the council which prohibits the sale of any fire cracker larger than 1/2 of an inch in diameter and two inches long.

A petition was presented by the Kellogg Bros. Lumber company asking for the opening of two streets near their property on the east side. This matter was referred to the street committee to see what could be done toward securing the right of way.

When the meeting was over an adjournment was taken for one week and there will be another session next Tuesday evening.

LASPECI MEETING OF THE COUNTY BOARD

There will be a special meeting of the county board on Tuesday next, June 13th, for the purpose of raising additional funds for the new insane asylum. It is reported that the amount of money necessary will be from fifty to seventy-five thousand dollars in excess of what has already been appropriated.

Prof. M. H. Jackson expects to leave on Monday next on his European tour. He will sail from Boston on the 18th on the steamer Winifred of the Leyland line. It is expected that there will be about one hundred and fifty in the party. Mr. Jackson has promised to send us some of the impressions of his trip from time to time so that Tribune readers may follow him on his journeyings while in the old country.

Miss Caroline Kuntz expects to leave on Tuesday for Chicago where she will be joined by some friends on a trip thru Europe to be gone all summer. Miss Kuntz will spend some time in Germany and Paris visiting with relatives and will also visit in London and Switzerland.

Want a Better Service.

Wausau Pilot.—The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company has no better paying line than that which is known as the Wisconsin Valley division, yet in all of its vast system that valley is furnished the very poorest equipment and passenger service. This is the complaint heard on every hand. Unless something is done very soon to better the service, the business men in the towns along the line have determined to make a strong appeal to the officials of the road. The following has been drawn up and will be circulated for signatures:

We, the undersigned citizens and business firms of the city of Wausau, respectfully protest at the service we are receiving from the C. M. & St. P. Ry. Co., on this Wisconsin Valley division, and ask for better facilities, equipment and cleanliness. We feel that it is an injustice and disgrace to this section and its citizens that support one of the best, if not the best, paying sections of the C. M. & St. P. Ry. Co.'s lines, that we are not given such service as we are entitled to receive, and make the following specific complaints which we ask shall be remedied:

1ST, CLEAN AND MODERN PASSENGER COACHES

We contend that both trains serving in this valley are in the main, and at most times, unclean and unsanitary. The coaches are mostly old and antiquated and not properly cleaned and kept.

2ND, MEAL FACILITIES

We contend that the present meal service at Grand Rapids is unpleasant to ladies and others; that ladies traveling alone or with children, find it annoying and sometimes impossible to ride to the hotel, and frequent instances are known when this was found to work to the distress of the passenger.

We ask for the installation of a well kept eating house at the station where good meals shall be served and that the dining car and service shall be improved. We further request that opportunity shall be given Chicago passengers, on the night train from this valley, to be served with breakfast between Milwaukee and Chicago as formerly, through a dining car. Under present conditions, Chicago passengers must get out at Milwaukee very early and get breakfast or wait until Chicago is reached at 9 o'clock.

3RD, EQUIPMENT AND SERVICE

We ask for the installation of a parlor car which shall be run on the day train from Milwaukee, reaching this city at 7:55 p. m., and for separate sleeping cars, modern and well furnished, which shall be run to and from both Milwaukee and Chicago, and finally we request that trains be given power equipment that will run them on time.

Found for Plaintiff.

In the case of Stanley Szowczyk vs. the E. W. Ellis Lumber Company the jury brought in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, placing the damages at $200.

This was a personal injury case in which the plaintiff sought to recover damages for the loss of a finger, the injury being sustained while the plaintiff was employed in defendant's factory.

Bought a New Car.

J. B. Arpin has a new Winton touring car, one of the latest things of the kind on the market. The car is a six cylinder machine and is a handsome and serviceable car. The purchase was made from Guy Wood, who has been demonstrating in this vicinity for some time past.

Mrs. Beulah C. Hemmaway of Colorado Springs, Col., arrived in the city on Monday expecting to spend a couple of weeks here visiting with friends. Mr. Hemmaway is expected here also to visit a few days.

Will Remodel Home.
 Louis Schroeder has taken the contract to remodel the home of Atty. J. W. Cochrane on Third Ave. N., commencing work this week. Among the improvements will be a 20x30 addition, modern heating plant, and enlarged basement.

Has an All-New Parade.
 In novelty, costliness and brilliancy, the parade which the Ringling Brothers are presenting this season is a marvel of achievement. It far surpasses their past records. There are three miles of it. In every mile, more strange sights are disclosed than are possessed by any other circus that ever toured America.

When it is seen in the streets of Grand Rapids on Wednesday, June 22 it will afford spectators more real enjoyment than ever they had in the past on circus day. The four million people of New York City are singing the praises of the Ringling Brothers. They have not recovered from the amazement occasioned by the brilliant Madison Square Garden engagement.

The Ringling Circus has a payroll on which are 1,250 men. Its daily expenses are $7,500. It costs over $2,000 every day to feed the army of performers and workmen. The 650 horses, forty elephants and 1,000 menagerie animals consume many tons of hay and grain each day. One ton of fresh meat is needed every day. When all the canvas of ground are up, fourteen acres of ground are covered. Besides the several exhibition tents, there are rows of dressing rooms, streets of shops, a postoffice, hospital, hotel, library, laundry and dynamo plant where power is generated for 5,000 electric lamps, bonbons and amusements. The show carries its own doctors, lawyers, dentists and detectives.

The train that pulls the circus from town to town is more than a mile in length. In a single season it sometimes travels 40,000 miles, stopping at some 200 cities. Its tours extend from Maine to California and from Canada to the Gulf. The management maintains business offices in New York City and Chicago winter quarters in Baraboo, Wis., foreign work is done at Stoke-on-Trent, England, and agencies in London, Liverpool, Paris, Hamburg, Berlin, St. Petersburg, Melbourne, Constantinople, Vienna, Calcutta, Hong Kong, Buenos Ayres and Cape Town. This season it has 375 performers. Over 300 of these are making their first tour of America. There are artists from Germany, France, Italy, Russia, Norway, Holland, Spain, Belgium, England, Australia, Greece, Syria, Turkey, Japan, South Africa, South America, Cuba, Mexico and New Zealand.

There are fifty sensational acts on the program. Any one of them would carry a show to distinction. The Schuman performing horses, from the Circus Schuman of Germany, are worth their weight in gold. The Saxon brothers are the three most remarkable men in the world in point of strength and endurance. Other noted features are Robello, the Mexican wizard of the wire; the Lorch family of acrobats, from Germany; the Alexis family of aerialists; the telephoning elephants, Darwin the missing link, and the famous band of clowns ever seen under canvas. The morning parade is a model of perfection. It is the longest and most costly ever presented. The menagerie is a million dollar collection of the rarest specimens of animal life.

CELEBRATED THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Love celebrated their golden wedding at their home on the east side on Saturday, June 4th, they having been married fifty years on that day. It was intended to hold a family reunion at the same time, and they did make it as much of one as possible, two of their sons, Eugene and Arthur, not being able to be present on this occasion. However, six of the boys were present and assisted in the festivities of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Love are among the old residents of the city, having come here from Canada nearly forty-six years ago. The greater part of that time they have been engaged in the hotel business where they are now located, having been at this during the past 27 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Love have eight sons, all of whom are known to many of our residents and the most of them have been connected with the railroad business in some way or another. They are as follows:

John G. Love of Chicago, assistant general freight agent for the C. M. & St. Paul Ry.
 Peter Love of this city, engineer on the Green Bay & Western Ry.
 Wm. Eugene Love, train dispatcher with the Canadian Pacific Ry.
 Thomas Arthur Love of Seattle, Wash., agent for the Alaskan Steamship Co.
 Alexander Ray Love of this city, with the Nogosa-Edwards Paper Company at Port Edwards.
 James Irving Love of Roschburg, Ore., with the Southern Pacific Ry.
 Francis Lee Love of Nekoma City, with the Graham Paper company.
 Paul Carl Love of Nekoma City, with the Graham Paper company.

Enjoyed a Musical Treat.
 The people of Grand Rapids were given a real musical treat at the opera house on Monday evening on the occasion of Jacob Reuter's appearance here, and there was a large and appreciative audience present to enjoy it.

Mr. Reuter has appeared before Grand Rapids audiences several times before, and the public knew what to expect, and they were not disappointed. Mr. Reuter's selections were superb, and that they were appreciated was evident from the enthusiastic manner in which they were received.

Miss Smith, pianist, was also well received, and is certainly well up in the knowledge of the piano and a fitting accompanist for Mr. Reuter. Miss Lovejoy, reader, was well received by the audience and was entitled to the praise she received by all who heard her.

Yousko-Zeaman.
 Miss Matilda Yousko and William Zeaman were married Wednesday morning at half past ten at the east side Catholic church. Rev. Wm. Reding officiating. They were accompanied by Miss Marie Yousko as maid of honor and Walter Zeaman as best man. At the conclusion of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Yousko, only the members of the two families being present.

Both of the contracting parties are well and favorably known in this vicinity, the bride being the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Yousko, while the groom is a young man of exemplary habits. The young couple left the same evening on a short wedding tour. They have a host of friends who wish them a happy journey thru life.

Next Month Stock Fair.
 The next monthly stock fair will be held on Tuesday, June 14th on the west side market square. This promises to be a big fair, and the demand for stock of all kinds and horses will be big. Any farmer or citizen having any household goods, or in fact anything of value for sale will do well to bring it on the market for sale. John Bell Sr., will auction it off for you at a small charge. The brewery still has a standing offer for an eighth of beer to the farmer bringing in the most samples on that day.

Northwestern Making Some Improvements.
 The Northwestern Ry. Co. started a crew of men at work on Monday tearing up the platform leading to the freight depot, after which the freight depot will be moved up to within a few feet of the main street and an office built in this end. As it is at present it has been very handy. To an outsider it would seem that it would have been a better plan to have left the depot in its present place and built a new office along Grand Ave., but then the railroad companies have a style of their own in doing things.

Will Play Baseball.

The Elks baseball team, being of the opinion that the band boys can play much more music than they can baseball, have accepted the challenge recently issued by the band, and a game of baseball will be played next Sunday at the ball park between these two organizations.

Both teams are perfectly confident of winning, both sides having already fixed the umpire so that it will be all right. Mayor Wheelan will umpire.

Music will be furnished by the band, and it is expected that a very interesting game will be the result.

Liked Our Orchestra.

The Bliss orchestra furnished music for the commencement exercises at Almond last week, and in speaking of the matter the Portage County Press has the following to say:

The Bliss orchestra of Grand Rapids, furnished the instrumental selections, and nothing but praise for their efforts has been heard. The trombone solo by H. H. Ticknor, "The Holy City," was especially praiseworthy.

Will Remodel Home.

Louis Schroeder has taken the contract to remodel the home of Atty. J. W. Cochrane on Third Ave. N., commencing work this week. Among the improvements will be a 20x30 addition, modern heating plant, and enlarged basement.

Found a Good Impression.
 The local band went to Wausau on Friday to furnish music for the Milwaukee delegation at traveling men that went to the convention.

There were 25 members went up from here and they furnished some good music and were well received by both the members of the convention and the people of Wausau.

In fact, the Milwaukee delegation was well pleased with the music that many of them made the remark that our boys would accompany them to Green Bay in 1911, where the next convention will be held.

In speaking of the music the Record-Herald of that city has the following to say about the Grand Rapids band:

The Grand Rapids band, which is one of the outstanding spirits of the U. C. T. convention, surrounded the Record-Herald force this morning. The band is one of the best here and many favorable comments have been made on the excellent music furnished by the organization. They played several selections today and were on each occasion the center of an admiring group of people. The little city to the south has reason to feel proud of its musical organization.

Candidate for Sheriff.

Michael Mason has informed a number of his friends the past week that he will be a candidate for sheriff on the democratic ticket before the primary this fall. Mike was born and raised in Wood county and has a large circle of friends who will try and help him win. Mr. Mason has served as undersheriff for two terms, and for a number of years was a member of the police force, having a splendid record as an officer in both places. He will be a strong contestant for the office.

Will Close Saturday Afternoons.

Notice is hereby given that from and after June 18, 1910, the law offices in the city of Grand Rapids will be closed on Saturday afternoons to and including Sept. 24th, 1910.

For Sale.

We contend that both trains serving in this valley are in the main, and at most times, unclean and unsatisfactory. The coaches are mostly old and antiquated and not properly cleaned and kept.

2ND. MEAL FACILITIES

We contend that the present meal service at Grand Rapids is unpleasant to ladies and others; that ladies traveling alone or with children, find it annoying and sometimes impossible to ride to the hotel, and frequent instances are known when this was found to work to the distress of the passenger.

We ask for the installation of a well kept eating house at the station where good meals shall be served and that the dining car and service shall be improved.

We further request that opportunity shall be given Chicago passengers, on the night train from this valley, to be served with breakfast between Milwaukee and Chicago as formerly, through a dining car. Under present conditions, Chicago passengers must get off at Milwaukee very early and get breakfast or wait until Chicago is reached at 9 o'clock.

3RD. EQUIPMENT AND SERVICE

We ask for the installation of a parlor car which shall be run on the day train from Milwaukee, reaching this city at 7:05 p. m., and for separate sleeping cars, modern and well furnished, which shall be run to and from both Milwaukee and Chicago, and finally we request that trains be given power equipment that will run them on time.

John Gross, who has been working in the wood room at the Biron mill for several days past got two of his fingers pinched between a block of wood and an iron brace this morning, the result being that he now has a very sore hand. The wound was dressed by a surgeon and John will probably be all right again within a short time.

Found for Plaintiff.

In the case of Stanley Szweczyk vs. the E. W. Ellis Lumber Company the jury brought in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, placing the damages at $500.

This was a personal injury case in which the plaintiff sought to recover damages for the loss of a finger, the injury being sustained while the plaintiff was employed in defendant's factory.

Bought a New Car.

J. B. Arpin has a new Winton touring car, one of the latest things of the kind on the market. The car is a six cylinder machine and is a handsome and serviceable car. The purchase was made from Guy Wood, who has been demonstrating in this vicinity for some time past.

Mrs. Beulah C. Hemmings of Colorado Springs, Col., arrived in the city on Monday expecting to spend a couple of weeks here visiting with friends. Mr. Hemmings is expected here also to visit a few days.

—Look at Daly's show window tomorrow.

Will Remodel Home.

Louis Schroeder has taken the contract to remodel the home of Atty. J. W. Cochran on Third Ave. N., commencing work this week. Among the improvements will be a 20x20 addition, modern heating plant, and enlarged basement.

Has an All-New Parade.

In novelty, costliness and brilliancy, the parade which the Ringling Brothers are presenting this season is a marvel of achievement. It far surpasses their past records. There are three miles of it. In every mile, more strange sights are disclosed than are possessed by any other circus that ever toured America.

When it is seen in the streets of Grand Rapids on Wednesday, June 22, it will afford spectators more real enjoyment than ever they had in the past on circus day. The four million people of New York City are singing the praises of the Ringling Brothers. They have not recovered from the amazement occasioned by the brilliant Madison Square Garden engagement.

The Ringling Circus has a payroll on which are 1,250 names. Its daily expenses are $7,500. It costs over $2,000 every day to feed the army of performers and workmen. The 650 horses, forty elephants and 1,000 menagerie animals consume many tons of hay and grain each day. One ton of fresh meat is needed every day. When all the canvas of the show is up, fourteen acres of ground are covered. Besides the several exhibition tents, there are rows of dressing rooms, streets of shops, a postoffice, hospital, hotel, library, laundry and dynamo plant where power is generated for 6,000 electric lamps, boncos and searchlights. The show carries its own doctors, lawyers, dentists and detectives.

The train that pulls the circus from town to town is more than a mile in length. In a single season it sometimes travels 40,000 miles, stopping at some 200 cities. Its tours extend from Maine to California and from Canada to the Gulf. The management maintains business offices in New York City and Chicago winter quarters in Baraboo, Wis., foreign workshops at Stoke-on-Trent, England, and agencies in London, Liverpool, Paris, Hamburg, Berlin, St. Petersburg, Melbourne, Constantinople, Vienna, Calcutta, Hong Kong, Buenos Ayres and Cape Town.

This season they has 375 performers. Over 300 of these are making their first tour of America. There are artists from Germany, France, Italy, Russia, Norway, Holland, Spain, Belgium, England, Australia, Greece, Syria, Turkey, Japan, South Africa, South America, Cuba, Mexico and New Zealand.

There are fifty sensational acts on the program. Any one of them would carry a show to distinction. The Schuman performing horses, the Circus Schuman of Germany, are worth their weight in gold. The Saxon brothers are the three most remarkable men in the world in point of strength and endurance. Other noted features are "Robedillo, the Mexican wizard of the wires"; the Lorch family of acrobats, from Germany; the Alexis family of aerialists, many; the telephoning elephants, and the missing link, and the funniest band of clowns ever seen under canvas. The morning parade is a model of perfection. It is the longest and most costly ever presented. The menagerie is a million dollar collection of the rarest specimens of animal life.

Notice to Savings Depositors.

In accordance with our established rule, all deposits made in the Savings Department on or before the 12th of the month will draw interest from the first. This gives ample time to deposit a part of your pay check and get interest the same as if the check was received on the first of the month. This rule applies every month in the year and we will be pleased to have you take advantage of it as often as possible. By depositing part of your income, (no matter how small,) you will soon have a snug sum to your credit, and the compound interest we pay will help you make it grow.

First National Bank, Grand Rapids, Wis.

Northwestern Making Some Improvements.

The Northwestern Ry. Co. started a crew of men at work on Monday tearing up the platform leading to the freight depot, after which the freight depot will be moved up to within a few feet of the main street and an office built in this end. As it is at present it has been very handy. To an outsider it would seem that it would have been a better plan that it would have been a better plan to have left the depot in its present place and built a new office along Grand Ave., but then the railroad companies have a style of their own in doing things.

Will Play Baseball.

The Elks baseball team, being of the opinion that the band boys can play much more music than they can baseball, have accepted the challenge recently issued by the band, and a game of baseball will be played next Sunday at the ball park between these two organizations.

Both teams are perfectly confident of winning, both sides having already fixed the umpire so that it will be all right. Mayor Wheelan will umpire.

Music will be furnished by the band, and it is expected that a very interesting game will be the result.

Liked Our Orchestra.

The Bliss orchestra furnished music for the commencement exercises at Almond last week, and in speaking of the matter the Portage County Press has the following to say:

The Bliss orchestra of Grand Rapids, furnished the instrumental selections, and nothing but praise for their efforts has been heard. Their trombone solo by H. H. Ticknor, "The Holy City," was especially praiseworthy.

CELEBRATED THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Love celebrated their golden wedding at their home on the east side on Saturday, June 4th, they having been married fifty years on that day. It was in tended to hold a family reunion at the same time, and they did make it as much of one as possible, two of their sons, Eugene and Arthur, not being able to be present on this occasion. However, six of the boys were present and assisted in the festivities of the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Love are among the old residents of the city, having come here from Canada nearly forty-six years ago. The greater part of that time they have been engaged in the hotel business where they are now located, having been at this during the past 37 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Love have eight sons, all of whom are known to many of our residents and the most of them have been connected with the railroad business in some way or another. They are as follows:

Peter Love of this city, engineer on the Green Bay & Western Ry.

Wm. Eugene Love, train dispatcher with the Canadian Pacific Ry.

Thomas Arthur Love of Seattle, Wash., agent for the Alaskan Steamship Co.

Alexander Ray Love of this city, with the Nekeosa-Edwards Paper Company at Port Edwards.

James Irving Love of Roseburg, Ore., with the Southern Pacific Ry.

Francis Lee Love of Kansas City, with the Graham Paper company.

Paul Carl Love of Kansas City, with the Graham Paper company.

Enjoyed a Musical Treat.

The people of Grand Rapids were given a real musical treat at the opera house on Monday evening on the occasion of Jacob Reuter's appearance here, and there was a large and appreciative audience present to enjoy it.

Mr. Reuter has appeared before Grand Rapids audiences several times before, and the public knew what to expect, and they were not disappointed. Mr. Reuter's selections were superb, and that they were appreciated was evident from the enthusiastic manner in which they were encored.

Miss Smith, pianist, was also well received, and is certainly well up in the knowledge of the piano and a fitting accompanist for Mr. Reuter. Miss Lovelady, reader, was well received by the audience and was entitled to the praise she received by all who heard her.

Yousko-Zeaman.

Miss Matilda Yousko and William Zeaman were married Wednesday morning at half past ten at the east side Catholic church, Rev. Wm. Reding officiating. They were accompanied by Miss Marie Yousko as maid of honor and Walter Zeaman as groomsmen. At the conclusion of the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Yousko, only the members of the two families being present.

Both of the contracting parties are well and favorably known in this vicinity, the bride being the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Yousko, while the groom is a young man of exemplary habits. The young couple left the same evening on a short wedding tour. They have a host of friends who wish them a happy journey thru life.

Monthly Stock Fair.

The next monthly stock fair will be held on Tuesday, June 14th on the west side market square. This promises to be a big fair, and the demand for stock of all kinds and horses will be big. Any farmer or citizen having any household goods, or in fact anything of value for sale will do well to bring it on the market for sale. John Bell Sr., will auction it off for you at a small charge. The brewery still has a standing offer for an eighth of beer to the farmer bringing in the most empties on that day.

Challenge to the Elks.

It having been reported that the Elks have a baseball team within their lodge who are supposed to be able to play the national game fast enough to keep from freezing to death on a June day, we would like to have the information conveyed to them that we have a like organization within our confines, and that we stand ready and willing to play said team of Elks at any and all times that they may designate, preferred time and place being next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, at the ball park near Kipp's Hill. This is to be a strictly scientific game, Marquis of Queensbury rules to govern, best three in five, and only planned falls to count; struggle hold barred. Dated at Grand Rapids, Wis., June 6, 1910. ### Made a Good Impression.

The head band went to Wausau on Friday to furnish made for the Milwaukee delegation of traveling men that went to the convention.

There were 25 members went up from here and they furnished some good music and were well received by both the members of the convention and the people of Wausau.

In fact, the Milwaukee delegation was so well pleased with the music that many of them made the remark that our boys would accompany them to Green Bay in 1911, where the next convention will be held.

In speaking of the made the Record-Herald of that city has the following to say about the Grand Rapids band:

The Grand Rapids band, which is one of the enlivening spirits of the U. O. T. convention, appeared the Record-Herald force this morning. The band is one of the best here and many favorable comments have been made on the excellent music furnished by the organization. They played several selections today and were on each occasion the center of an admiring group of people. The little city to the south has reason to feel proud of its musical organization.

Candidate for Sheriff.

Michael Mason has informed a number of his friends the past week that he will be a candidate for sheriff on the democratic ticket before the primary this fall. Mike was born and raised in Wood county and has a large circle of friends who will try and help him win. He will be a strong contestant for the office.

THE BUSY BEE AND HIS PRODUCT

By RUSSELL HASTINGS MILLWARD

THE AGAVE OR CENTURY PLANT IN FULL BLOOM

It is not known to which country the bee is really indigenous; but it is a well-established fact that in ancient times primitive man kept his beehives and gathered the honey, which he used for food and on sacred occasions brought before his gods as an offering. The fame of the honey gathered by the bees on the slopes of Mount Vesuvius was sung by Virgil and even today this product of world-wide renown is served to the tourist by the zealous Greek. In both Egypt and Mexico honey has been found in earthen created to work out its own destiny, holding at all times the instinctive and characteristic peculiar to its kind. The drone bees fly through periods of but from three to eight weeks and the workers from six weeks to six months. These workers collect all the honey in their mouths, whence it passes into the crop or honey bag and is then carried to the hive.

In barrels and is either extracted or strained, the handling of beeswax being usually treated as a separate industry and one which has been followed extensively by the natives of Latin America for many years. When the wax has been refined and bleached, it is used in many of the arts and trades and has become an article of great commercial value the world over.

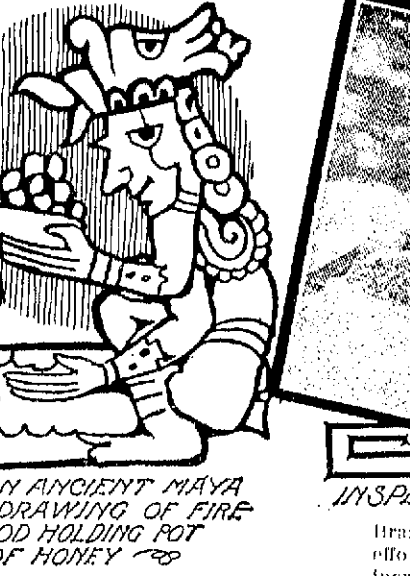

In the Argentine Republic honey is in such great demand that it is necessary to import over 100,000 pounds annually, most of which comes from Chile, although about 10,000 pounds of strained honey are annually exported to Germany and France, where it is employed in the manufacture of fancy crackers.

An effort is now being made by the government to introduce modern methods of bee keeping and encourage the farmers to engage in the industry as a side line.

Impossibility. No substitute for honey, or artificial means of preparation, have as yet been found and for many years the pure product has been adulterated with commercial glucose, cane sugar, or invert sugar sometimes to as great an extent as 85 per cent. It is the opinion of many bee keepers that the feeding of bees with such artificial substances for the purpose of increasing the production of honey should be considered as palpable adulteration, and that the artificial coloring of the product by electrical means should be so stated when it is placed on the market.

The sage honey from California is pronounced by experts as an example of the purest, best flavored and most consistent grade produced in the United States.

What is known as the Holy Land bee was first brought to the United States from Palestine by a Mr. Howard, in 1884, since which time the species can be found in many parts of America and is regarded by apiculturists as one of the best honey producers. About the time of the exportation of bees from Palestine, famous in ancient times for its honey, the Turkish government became deeply interested in the industry and imposed an exorbitant tax upon the apiculturists.

Honey is used in the far eastern countries in the manufacture of hydromel, a popular and most intoxicating beverage, having an agreeable flavor closely resembling cider. Alcohol has also been distilled from honey, but not to any great extent.

Many of the large manufacturers of candy in the United States complain that they have great difficulty in purchasing sufficient honey to meet their requirements owing to the recent and enormous demand of German manufacturers, who secure about 60 per cent. of all the product that is exported from the American republics. It is estimated that over half of the world's production is employed in the manufacture of candy and medicinal preparations and new uses are being found for honey and beeswax almost daily.

In the manufacture of biscuits and fancy cakes in the United States, Germany and England honey is extensively employed, both on account of its usefulness as a base in sweetening and its remarkable immunity from organic change. This answers the question which has been a matter of great speculation by those unacquainted with the inside secrets of the baking industry, as to how the numerous varieties of sweet crackers and cakes "kept on hand" through long periods of time remained apparently fresh, in the little village stores scattered throughout the country districts. The art of making fancy crackers that would "keep indefinitely" has for many years been considered one of the mysteries of the baking industry, attributed by the natives of Latin America to "Yankee cleverness."

Not many industries offer as many attractions as apiculture. It may be taken up by agriculturists as a specialty or as a side line. A small capital only is required to start the enterprise and returns are measured and certain. If ordinary care is taken in the selection of the location of the apiaries and consistent management of the bees maintained. Furthermore, a good market is always afforded for the product, which is neither perishable nor subject to a marked depreciation in value.

Practically all of the wild honey is shipped

Brazilian government is now making a special effort to develop the industry of apiculture and increase the output of honey and beeswax. In order to meet the ever-increasing demand, modern facilities are being rapidly erected which will permit the transportation of the product to convenient shipping points and encourage both the home and foreign trade.

Many varieties of bees are found in Brazil, and for some time the natives have gathered the honey, which, on account of its fine quality, has been used almost exclusively for medicinal purposes. The Tapiriba tree, in blossom time, is the source of a most abundant supply of wild honey; but the product has not been exported to any great extent, as a ready sale has always been found in the local markets.

The stingless bee which is common to all of the Latin-American countries is found in great numbers throughout Brazil and numerous other varieties have been imported from Europe, notably the Italian, which was introduced in 1904, when the government began to take an active interest in apiculture.

Although the production of honey is enormous, but 600,000 pounds are exported annually, most of which goes to Germany.

In Chile bees were first introduced from Italy by Mr. Pablo Larrain Gandarillas, about 45 years ago, since which time rapid progress has been made in the advancement of apiculture.

There are now nearly 100,000 apiaries in actual operation throughout the republic, the majority of which are located in the provinces of Aconcagua and Coquimbo, where the mildness of the climate and richness of the flora are particularly adapted to the culture of the Italian bee.

Over 1,000,000 pounds of purified wax and 5,000,000 pounds of honey are exported annually from Chile, of which Germany purchases about 60 per cent., Great Britain 15 per cent., France 15 per cent. and Belgium and the Argentine Republic 10 per cent. The product being produced in fine quality and bringing top prices at all times in the markets.

Wild honey is found in abundance throughout Mexico and especially in the forests of the Algarroba tree, whose flowers through a long blooming season are always a favored source of supply to the bee. The industry of gathering the honey, in the old days, was followed chiefly for the purpose of obtaining the beeswax, which formed a valuable material in the manufacture of candles consumed in the ceremonies of the church.

Hives were found among the rocks and suspended from trees, and the natives, in gathering the honey, smoked out the bees with little regard to what became of them eventually.

Mexico exports annually about $50,000 in strained honey, most of which is shipped to the United States, Germany and England, and imports about $50,000 in comb honey, most of which comes from the United States, England and Germany and a small amount even from China.

Over 25,000 pounds of wild honey are annually exported from the port of Tampico and the industry has become one of great importance in that district.

An interesting honey-collecting art is also found in Mexico, which lives in underground chambers and gathers honey from the numerous wild flowers and plants. A certain number of these ants remain at home and are used as living storehouses. They are fed honey by the workers until they swell to about the size of a pea and during the seasons when honey is not obtainable they regurgitate their supplies, drop by drop, as food for the colony.

Wild honey is found in great quantities in the woods near San Juan del Norte, Nicaragua, but is not exported to foreign markets owing to a strong local demand throughout the inland towns and villages, where it is always readily purchased and consumed by the native population.

PINS ARE GORGEOUS

MOCK JEWELS FLASH ON DEVICES THAT HOLD HAT.

Utmost Elaboration Allowed, Indeed, Called for, in the Matter of Hat-pins—Many Are Extremely High in Price.

Much glitter of rhinestones and glow of mock jewels has come upon us in the matter of hatpins. Far from the lovely, inconspicuous article, with the small black or white head which was wont to conceal itself among mil-linary triflings in other days, are the pins of today. For several years hatpins have been growing more and more elaborate, more and more high in price, and varied in design. They are now an important feature of the jewelry store. Milliners as a rule, carry a limited stock and it is in the department store that the popular styles flourish in all their glittering glory.

Brooch Head on Pin.

It is not so long ago that a hand-

some rhinestone pin, with the head a good sized ball of well set stones, was a luxury of those with money to spare. It was much observed (one couldn't miss it), and gifted with the old, infallible fascination of sparkle and light. Every girl that looked developed a yearning for the dazzling trifle, which was the finishing touch, the dot on the "i," of its possessor's well-managed costume. For she who can afford (or acquire) hatpins "at from $5.00 up" usually manages the rest of her toilette on the same scale.

It doesn't take the thrifty manufacturer long to discover which way the wind blows, hatpin-ward, or any other-ward. Witness to this the aggressive onslaught of pins set with brilliant stones in conjunction with other decorative features. The hatpin is no longer a mere utility article, it is extremely pretentious. Many of the patterns are very pretty and a great number show combinations of shell, enamel and brilliant stones very well set up. Some hand some ones show combinations of gold and rhinestone surrounding colored stones. In really worthy designs. All the fashion-able thought of the hatpin is doing duty to provide variety in their designs. Old brooches, indeed, have been brought out and mounted on pins, renewing their usefulness and leading the march in luxury dress accessories, another step forward.

CUTTING THE WEDDING CAKE

Prescribed Form for Operation That Seems Almost a Part of the Ceremony.

There is a distinction in these days between the bride's cake and wedding cake. The former has come to mean that one used at the rehearsal, while the latter is served in boxes marked with the initials of bride and groom.

These boxes are usually filled with fruit cake and served from a side table in the hall as each guest leaves after the reception. If you do not wish half your guests to go cakeless it is well to have the boxes passed out by a waiter. The most liberal providing will not cover greedy persons who take home four or five boxes apiece.

The bride's cake proper is generally served the night of the rehearsal, sometimes at the wedding breakfast. It is usually a white cake or pound cake laced with chocolate, and contains ribbons that are supposed to tell for times.

These trifles can be bought in fancy shops, which contain a ring for the next to wed, a penny for wealth, a trifle for the old maid, a button for the old bachelor. Some of the more elaborate sets have tiny gold charms, slippers, wedding bells and hearts in addition.

Tan Hat With Black Lace.

If you have a tan dress left from last year and it is a little too faded for wear as it is, cover it with dotted black lace, trim with a wreath of roses and you will have a "new Paris creation." This is a fact. A hat made by a milliner, well known for the beauty of her models, is a tan straw covered, upper and under side, with black lace and with a wreath of tiny pink roses arranged around the crown. The lace is drawn tight over the under side of the brim, like a facing, and lunched homely over the crown. The wreath is placed rather low, resting partly on the crown and partly on the brim.

VARIATION IN BRIAR STITCH

Inner Decoration That Is New and Not Exclusively Difficult to Execute.

Instead of the single or double braid stitching used as an inner decoration, with a buttonhole scallop, a new and effective variation in a daisy or "bird's-eye" stitch to finish each of the side stitches of the braid.

This stitch is nothing more complicated than a loop or chain stitch at the end of the finished line of braid stitching. After the latter is worked begin at top and make a small chain stitch into the hole where side braid stitch ends.

Work toward you, hold thread under thumb of left hand to form a loop held down with small stitch. In making this stitch slide needle down to tip of next braid stitch, bring out on right side, make another held-down loop, and continue until one side of the line is worked. Repeat on opposite side of braid stitching, being sure to run loop in same direction.

These loops may be in a lighter or darker tone than braid stitching or in a contrasting shade, as pink, blue, or green with white.

An Idea in Comfortables.

New comfortables are made and quilted in the usual way, but instead of having the only covering of silk or satin, they are inclosed in fine cheesecloth.

A bag of any desired material is made to fit this comfortable. It has an opening at one end through which the quilt is slipped. This is sewed by hand or is supplied with tiny buttons and buttonholes.

The covering is tacked to the quilt in various places, so that it looks like the ordinary quilted comfortable, but it is the work of a few minutes to remove the stitches and take off the cover when laundering is necessary.

WAIST OF BATISTE.

This dainty lingerie waist is of white batiste, trimmed with beautiful hand embroidery and with fancy fagoting. It fastens in the back.

Care of Eyebrow.

The skin beneath the eyebrows needs daily attention. One frequently needs a dry, scaly condition here, similar to dandruff of the scalp—and indeed it is the same thing—and here and there tiny bald patches. Crude petroleum rubbed well into them at night will relieve the scalliness and promote the growth of hair. A tiny brow brush should be on every one's toilet table, and used daily; it imparts luster to the brows and keeps them in good condition.

SUPERSTITIONS THAT ARE OLD

Have Been Inseparably Connected With Bridals Since the Advent of That Important Ceremony.

The bride who believes in omens has her hands full. She might as well turn over her trousseau and wedding breakfast arrangements to others. She will have all she can manage in doing and leaving undone the things that will bring her good or ill-luck in her wedded life.

If she has a hankering for luck, of course she will wear on her bridal day "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue." Every bride does, whether here or is not a superstitious soul.

Then she will be married on Wednesday, "the best day of it." Nor must this Wednesday be in May or the bride will not remain long with her husband. It should also be in the full of the moon or when it is growing. Nor must she alter the day set for her wedding.

The day having been chosen, she must be sure not to find a milkmaid who has never married anyone before, for that is the worst of luck.

She must also make a deal with the weather man so that the sun will shine; and forego her banking for an evening ceremony, as marriage after sunset is unlucky.

On her left leg, nearest the heart, she should wear as many yellow garters as she has bridesmaids. If those maidens wear those lucky garters for a year, they will not be unwed at the end of that time.

Of course there must be rice and old shoes in the house, for what bride would risk her luck by not being a target for her friends when starting on her honeymoon? The timid maiden may substitute confetti, but let her beware, she is tampering with her future luck, not to mention leaving days of misery for those who must sweep carpets and pavement.

Then must our bride be sure to take plenty of strong coffee at the wedding breakfast, for should fatigue get her and she be the first to fall asleep on the wedding night, she will likewise be the first to die.

When Death Drives.

A local preacher in Cornwall, England, had a certain experience, being driven home from a preaching engagement by a dead man in the back seat. Philip Pascoe, a cab proprietor, had been engaged to drive some local preachers to various places in the St. Austell circuit in a wagonette. Returning in the evening there was, for the first part of the journey, only one passenger, Mr. Houseman of Mount Charles. When the conveyance reached Fair Cross the driver was seen to be leaning forward, with the reins in his hands, and the wagonette collided with a trap going in the opposite direction. The driver on the trap remonstrated with Pascoe, but the latter took no notice and remained in a stooping position, as if asleep or intoxicated. Mr.

Houseman then touched Mr. Pascoe on the arm to arouse him, and was horrified to find he was dead.

A Point on Pencils.

Life is just one worry after another, and just as we are getting accustomed to the high cost of living along come the manufacturers of lead pencils to tell us that in five years from now the supply of wood-suitable for lead pencils will be exhausted.

The number of pencils consumed annually is 350,000,000, and red cedar furnished the wood for these. That is chosen because it is soft, whittles easily and is free from knots. The pencil manufacturers have become so alarmed over the prospect of a disappearance of the supply that they have interested the United States forest service, and that branch of the government is sending broadcast suggestions to meet the threatened deficit.

But the little ball once found a far stranger destination than that. Escaping from the croupler's hand it flew straight into the mouth of a German onlooker and he was so impressed that he promptly swallowed it.

So he went on to the courthouse much against his will. Upon entering the courtroom the judge addressed him in a defiant way, saying: "Doctor, why didn't you come immediately when summoned?" The doctor replied that he came as quickly as possible. Then the judge said: "Well, give me a good reason as to why you were not here sooner or I shall fine you for contempt of court."

The doctor in the mildest way said:

DEAF AND DUMB!

By HARRIET LUMMIS SMITH

Copyright, 1920 by Associated Literary Press

The two young men seated at the round table in the little specialty restaurant kept up a desultory conversation, such as was compatible with doing justice to the delicious soft-shell crabs for which the Sea Gull is noted. But it was a soundless conversation, inarticulate, for the fingers talked rather than the lips. George Laveton was a deaf mute and his cousin, Allan Merrill, though less proficient in the sign language, had mastered enough of its intricacies to enable him to sustain a part in the conversation.

"Deaf and dumb, poor things! Isn't it dreadful?"

It was a girl's voice, coming from the table at the right.

"Yes, dreadful! And especially for the handsome one," replied her companion.

"Now, which of us does she mean?" wondered Allan. His uncertainty was a credit to his modesty, for George's lean, brown face, in spite of an expression of alert intelligence, lacked every element of beauty. Fortunately the speaker settled the question by adding, "What dark, beautiful eyes he has! I never care for blue eyes in a man."

Allan heaved a sigh of relief. George's eyes were gray. He improved the first opportunity to glance at the other table. The girl in blue was beautiful. Her oval face was tinted like a rose and the big violet eyes with their long lashes were bewitching in their frank play.

George nudged his friend and his nimble fingers spelled out warning. "Don't stare so. It's rude."

"The worst of it is," remarked the girl who had spoken first, "that such an affliction shuts them out of everything. Of course they can't marry. No woman in her senses would consider such a thing."

"Why Have You Lost Your Appetite?"

"I don't know why," cried the girl in blue, indignantly.

"You don't?" The exclamation of her companion indicated mingled disapproval and surprise.

"Well, for one reason, he couldn't make love to you."

"He wouldn't need to," declared the girl in blue, a trifle sentimentally. "If only he looked—"

"She broke in on the part of a laugh and her companion said, reproachfully:

"Well, Winifred, I don't wonder you blush."

Allan longed to see how she looked when she was blushing, but he did not dare to raise his eyes. And her name was Winifred. Somehow he liked the sound of it. He repeated it mustily to himself.

The talk at the table on the right turned into other channels, but though Allan listened eagerly for a clue to the identity of the speakers, none reached his ears. "In a few minutes they'll leave or they'll leave," he reflected, "and I'll never see her again." It seemed to him that it was a place of meeting on the part of fate to have placed the girl in such tantalizing proximity, at the same time setting between them the barbed wire fence of social convention. Why couldn't he have met her? He wished for a hurricane or an earthquake, something that would afford him an excuse for hurrying to her side and proffering his aid. But nothing happened except that George finished his crabs and asked on his fingers the leading question:

"Why have you lost your appetite?"

Allan took a final glance at the girl as he rose to go. She was even prettier than he had imagined—little mouth was hers, drooping at the corners! And what a brave, tender-hearted little girl she had proved herself in her impetuous challenge to her friend. It seemed hard that he was turning away from her without any assurance that he would ever see her again. As he stepped aboard the street car he had so burdensome a sense of heaviness at heart that the ludicrousness of the situation forced itself on his attention and he laughed aloud.

In the nature of the case, an energetic young lawyer who is also a social favorite has little time to give to

Wrong in Their Judgment

They were youthful enthusiasts in physiognomy. On the seat opposite in the train was a man of commanding figure, massive brow and serious expression. "Splendid face!" one of them exclaimed. "What do you suppose his life-work has been?"

"A lawyer?" suggested the other.

"No; there's too much benevolence in that face for a lawyer."

"Maybe a banker?"

"Oh, no. A man with an expression like that couldn't have spent his life in merely turning over money."

"He might be an editor."

"An editor! Cutting and slashing his enemies at every turn, and even his friends occasionally, for the sake of a smart paragraph? You can't read faces. That man's a philanthropist, or engaged in some sort of public-spirited work. Why, there isn't a centennial regrets. But somehow the memory of the girl whose name was Winifred came back to Allan often in his hours of relaxation, or when he heard sweet music. Sometimes he dreamed of seeing her and the joy of recognition invariably awoke him. And so things went until one crisp fall morning, when Fate again took a hand in the game.

Allan came out of his office in a rush. He had some important matters to attend to before meeting a client. He had not yet reached the elevator when he could safely in his profession waiting. Accordingly he started to cross the street, despite the fact that a touring car was bearing down upon him, heralding its advance by the aggressive toots by which the modern motorist asserts his pre-eminence to the public highway. Allan believed that he had time enough to get across before the car should strike him and that, anyway, it was the chauffeur's business to look out.

At the critical moment his calculations were upset by a hand that clutched him arm. He stopped and pulled violently back, from under the very wheels of the swerving car.

Allan got back to the sidewalk without knowing just what had happened except that the hand that had first clutched him still held fast to his arm. Then, looking down, he saw that it was a little hand in a blue glove.

The hand released its hold on him, touched his shoulder, as if to attract his attention, and pointed in the direction of the now vanishing car. Allan understood that an effort had been made to save him from the consequences of his own recklessness and he tried to say grateful.

"You, I saw," he stammered. "I suppose it was rather close. Awfully good of you."

The trim of the big hat was tilted with startling suddenness, disclosing a face, whose smile in spite of the pallor, "You can speak?" gasped the girl—the girl whose name was Winifred.

The situation was trying. Suddenly it flashed upon him that his possession of the normal faculties was an offense to her. He tried to think of an answer to her, but he and she backed away from him, the waves of color flooding her face.

"And you can hear, too?" she asked him. "I can't deny it."

"I'm afraid I can't," said Allan, with real emotion.

"And you're not deaf and dumb at all? I was trying to save your life. I thought that you couldn't hear the horn and that you would be killed."

"I did hear it and I thought I had time to get across. That is what was my plucky of you," Allan cried. "I shall never forget it. Never!"

She laid her hands up over her face. He could see only the tips of her ears. His admiring tribute had not comforted her. She was thinking of something else.

"You heard me?" she cried in a smothered voice. "That day in the restaurant? You couldn't have helped hearing every word. Oh! What must you think of me?"

He came close to her. The street was full of people. Some passersby stared at the pair, the girl with her face covered, as if she were crying, and the tall young man bending over her and pleadingly trying to comfort her. But, for all Allan knew, they two were alone in some enchanted garden.

"I'd like to tell you what I do think of you," he said, unsteadily. "Some time when we're better acquainted I shall do it. But without waiting I can tell you I think about myself, and it's that I'm the luckiest fellow on earth to find you again. Now I'm going to walk along with you and find out what your name is—besides Winifred."

The client came promptly at eleven. And he waited as long as Allan had been an acknowledged ornament to the bar, rather than a beginner with a name to make.

Woman as a Social Success.

There is no quality more to be desired to make a woman a social success than that of tact. Its possessor knows the right thing to do and the right time for doing it and thus gains a reputation for cleverness and for many virtues which a tactless person can never win from her circle of acquaintances, no matter how excellent her qualities of both heart and head.

The tactful woman is not only a patient listener, but she is a thoroughly good one. She shows no weariness even when she has heard the same story more than once from the same person and she smiles in the right place and appears to enjoy hearing jokes as much as her companion enjoys telling them, says Woman's Life.

A tactful woman generally gets her own way with her husband and with other people and yet in such a manner that people always suspect that they are following their own and not her inclinations. The fact is that she knows when a man is approachable and likely to be amenable to her wishes and when it is best to leave him alone. Tact is a weapon guided by a multitude of precautions and feminine wiles by the wise woman and it is only the wise who possess it.

Encouragement for Shriker.

The man who dodges the problems of life often has a better time than the man who tries to solve them.

NOTES FROM MEADOWBROOK FARM

By William Pitt

Are you still breeding scrubbs?

The hoe killed the weeds but made little much.

If you are ready to plant do not wait upon the moon.

Rolling milk is good for chicks and will help bowel trouble.

Colony houses are of two kinds—stationary and movable.

Where there is a will there is a way to clean the farm of weeds.

Where there is a will there is a way to clean the farm of weeds.

A good farm level costs little compared with its worth and usefulness.

There is something wrong on the dairy farm that does not have a few hogs.

If there is one clean farm in the neighborhood, they can all be clean, or nearly so.

Do not plant trees when the soil is wet and sticky, or it is liable to be poked too firmly.

Feeding the dairy cow is one of the first things that the successful dairyman must thoroughly understand.

Cow-leasing associations, started some years ago, have been a wonderful help in weeding out unprofitable cows.

Roots of young trees should never be allowed to become dry. Cover with earth or wet sacks while waiting to be planted.

Spring is the end of the lambing season and a balanced ration should have been fed to ewes to keep a steady flow of milk.

Whitewash the trunks of the fruit and orchard trees with lime. This will repel borers, bark beetles and other insects for a time.

Plant plenty of hay crops. Work stock and dairy cows must have roughage if they are to do their part in making the farm profitable.

It takes grit to clean the henhouse regularly, often and thoroughly. Few men are up to that, and so few men do as well as they might with poultry.

Ten years ago the quality of the rank horses on many of the large western ranches was so indifferent that carload lots sold as low as $10 a head. Now they will bring $150.

It will not cost the farmer more than ten cents an acre to select out of his wheat bin the plumpest and heaviest kernels for seed. He will then improve his crop and yield.

Much kindness and respect for animals can be taught children by giving them pets. A pet pony has often taught children valuable lessons about the horse and given them incentives for outing in the fresh air.

We should select our hens from some good flock that is well bred and where the hens have a uniform appearance and then buy a first class rooster from some breeder who has a different strain of the same breed, so as to avoid inbreeding.

The question of the proper amount of seed to sow is never settled. Two and one-half bushels of average oats, sown broadcast, are not too many on average land, average seasons; and about one-half bushel less when drilled in, is looked upon as about right by most outgrowers.

Common wood ashes, with a few poultry droppings, are a cheap and most approved fertilizer for the grape vines. Too rich a fertilizer, such as stable manure alone, produces a growth so rank that rot is apt to be encouraged, while the flavor of the fruit is impaired by the nature and rapidity of growth.

Thorough tarring of corn will, to a great extent, prevent pulling by crows and blackbirds, but perhaps gophers and ground squirrels would only laugh at it. At least the seed with warm water, then stir in coal tar at the rate of a teaspoonful to the peck, being sure to stir until every kernel is black. Dry with ashes, laid plaster or slaked lime.

Don't imagine, unless you have an extraordinary large bank account, that you can go out and buy good dairy cows any time you take a notion. The only way to get an efficient herd is to raise your own cows. You may start in by buying some good foundation stock, but when this has been done you are improving the herd by buying good bulls and raising the heifers from your best milkers.

In growing cultivated crops, as corn for instance, it may be well to begin by plowing the land in the autumn, and soon after the previous grain crop was harvested. This prevents numberless weeds from going to seed. If moisture is present, many weeds will sprout in the land and when they are followed by the action of frost later, as in the case of wild mustard.

Perhaps the most effective and satisfactory method of making a ewe own her lamb is to place her in a hurdle where she can eat and comfortably lie down.

Hog tight fences have always been considerable of a problem. The women wire fence solves the problem both in economy and ease of construction.

Sand, gravel or grit should be with in reach of the newly-hatched chick at all times. Also a good supply of granulated charcoal.

Avoid turning the young colt into the pasture where it can see its mother, lest it fret and run through fences and injure itself.

Few farmers harrow quite enough.

Harsh treatment never pays with a cow.

Keep the plow sharp and have it cut all of the furrow.

The most important citizen of America today is the farmer.

Provide sprinklers, sprayers and stakes for your garden.

The big shovelled cultivator is a thing of the past, or should be.

Both the grass and the exercises gained in getting it are helpful to the hog.

A knowledge of marketing products to the best advantage is an important factor in profit.

The best prize winners are usually raised in incubators.

Remember the main object of farming this year is to provide and maintain a comfortable home.

Every farrowing pen should have a good fender to prevent the sow from lying on and smothering the pigs.

To carry out the plan of soil improvement and maintenance, a better use must be made of barnyard manure.

Ewes and lambs run well over young grass land, but they must be kept moving, so that all is grazed evenly.

Until about seventy years ago poultry keeping was almost wholly a home industry, producing for home consumption.

It is not too late to prune the orchard. If you could not do it sooner, do it now. Gather up the dead branches and burn them.

Keep the walks in your garden neat and attractive. Fence corners with weeds and poorly kept walks are sure evidences of a careless gardener.

Where alfalfa hay can be had, corn ensilage is certainly to be recommended, as the two give us a cheap, nutritious and balanced ration.

In all regions where snow lies long on the ground, winter poultry keeping is necessarily intensive, but that is no reason for continuing intensive methods through the summer.

The corn plant, as well as other plants, must draw its nourishment from the soil. In order for the plant to be well nourished the soil must have a large amount of plant food.

It is always perplexing to know what varieties of strawberries to plant. The old varieties which are known in the community should be retained until the newer sorts are tested on a small scale.

Eastern growers make grow fruit as a side issue and take what they get both when they gather and when they sell it, while the western grower makes a business of growing his fruit and gets what he asks for it.

The small, yellow and black striped beetle, which commonly attacks cucumbers, melons and squashes, has been expected every year; however, the severity of the attack varies in different sections and in different seasons.

All needed improvement around the place should be made before the season for cultivation arrives. Sheds for manure, shelter for stock and room for hay should now have attention. Let the silo have consideration while you are building.

Alfalfa has proven a great success all over the country west of the Missouri river. It is extending in popularity north into the Dakotas and south into Texas, with every evidence that it will become the adopted tame hay crop for those sections.

The incubator may get all the attention and discussion, but the hen will do her own lamp trimming and egg turning and cooling without any watching. Like many another patient worker, she gets no credit for this because it is expected of her as a part of her nature.

The young pigs must have dry nests and the bedding should be changed frequently and lime, or some other disinfectant sprinkled in the nest when it is cleaned. Many young pigs become infected with disease through their navels coming in contact with damp and foul nests.

Give the girls a chance to have a garden of their own. Light work and garden will greatly benefit health and furnish helpful exercise in the open air. Information about plants is essential to good education and should not be neglected. Let the girls become interested in the garden.

The most important time in the calf's life comes when we take it upon ourselves to feed and care for it, and at this time we should exercise a lot of kindness and gentleness, for roughness creates distrust and fear, and the chances are that calves will never forget their first lessons and impressions.

In the United States and Canada the subject of soil inoculation has assumed a peculiar significance in connection with the successful growing of alfalfa. First established on our western coast, alfalfa has gradually spread to the east, leaving in its wake more fertile fields, better grain crops, larger herds of cattle, and more numerous flocks of sheep.

Those old blackberry canes, if left among the new ones, will add greatly to the discomfort of the women folk when the berries ripen and are being picked, but if you remove them now, the way will be clear for berry picking, while a damaging ditch some where in the field or meadow-land also may be effectively filled with these worthless brush at little or no real expense.

Build a place for martins to brood on your farm. Their "chirps" are cheerful and their services valuable. They drive off birds of prey and greatly reduce insect depredations.

Nut bearing trees planted along all the small branches and in the fence corners will increase the beauty and value of the farm.

Avoid turning the young colt into the pasture where it can see its mother, lest it fret and run through fences and injure itself.

WISCONSIN NEWS TERSELY TOLD

Bangor.—Chickens and rattlesnakes are the topics of two strange stories brought to town. One is that the chickens in the village of Bangor have imbibed the corn spirit and are now laying corn eggs. One day a chicken laid a corn egg. The egg was the size of a walnut and the white was drawn out in a tail about eight inches long. The entire egg was incased in a soft shell. Milan Quail of the town of Burns waged a desperate battle with rattlesnakes on the bluffs near his home. He was attacked while passing over the bluff and dispatched 15 rattlers, some of which were large. Quail was exhausted when the fight was finished and had to call a doctor.

Beloit.—Mrs. Guy Rohles has just discovered the whereabouts of her sister, Mrs. Kathryn Blake, whom she has not seen for forty-two years and from whom she has not heard for fifteen years. When a census enumerator called on Mrs. Rohles, she asked him if it would be possible to get the address of her sister through the census bureau. He advised her to write to Congressman Cooper. She did so and received from him a list of names. Following this up, she heard from her long lost relative in Ottumwa, Ia.

Bangor.—Peter Cummings, the man who was stabbed in a roadside row a few days ago, is rapidly recovering and may be able to testify at the trial of Steve Howard, charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm. Cummings says he will refuse to testify at the trial; that he intends to settle with Howard personally when he gets well. Howard's body is covered with scars, reminders of a former fight in which he was cut in several places and left for dead.

Madison.—State Treasurer Dahl drew on the depository banks for $700,000, the amount to be available to the state by May 26. The large payments on account of the capital building made it necessary at this time, although it was inevitable soon for current expenses. This is the shortest season so far as income to the state is concerned.

Marquette.—The propagation of wild African ducks, in an effort to make them one of the aquatic water fowl of this country, is the experiment started on a large scale on the farm of Senator Isaac Stephenson by Fred Stephenson, who accompanied Cartoonist John T. McCutcheon on his trip to Africa.

Viroqua.—Guy McDowell, a stage driver of this city, was held up by a supposed passenger in a secluded spot along his route. The passenger, who gave his name as Gondo, went through McDowell's pockets and made his escape. The sheriff was notified, but has been unable to trace the robber's movements.

Beloit.—Mrs. Gus Rohles of this city has just discovered the whereabouts of her sister, Mrs. Kathryn Blake, whom she has not seen for 42 years and from whom she has not heard for 15 years. The discovery was made through the census bureau.

Marquette.—While attempting to board an engine at the Bay de Neque Lumbee company's camp, Frank Sengstang, an Indian, stumbled and falling under the locomotive, received injuries that caused his death a few hours later at Nahma.

Green Bay.—A baby carriage containing the eighteen-month-old child of John Wallerfang was seized by the wind and blown against a team of frightened horses, who trampled the little one to death before the eyes of the mother.

The Valuable Match.

There was a loud splash, and a moment later a dripping head appeared above the waves. On the end of the dock was a stavedore nonchalantly lighting his pipe.

"Hello, man!" cried the chap in the water. "Can't you see I am overboard? I can't swim."

"How often have you been down?" asked the stavedore, shielding the flickering match from the wind.

"Once, I believe, but hurry up, man! Give me a hand!"

"You wait! You have two more times yet to go down, and I have only one match. I'll catch you on the last trip!"—Exchange.

Jones.—Small! Great Scott, no! I felt as big as the side of a house.

Pa's Conclusion.

"What is an old ndage, pa?"

"Generally speaking, an old chestnut, my son."

Answer This Question

When shown positive and reliable proof that a certain remedy had cured numerous cases of female ills, wouldn't any sensible woman conclude that the same remedy would also benefit her if suffering with the same trouble?

Here are two letters which prove the efficiency of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Fitchville, Ohio.—"My daughter was all run down, suffered from pains in her side, head and limbs, and could walk but a short distance at a time. She came very near having nervous prostration, had begun to cough a good deal, and seemed melancholy by spells. Since taking two doctors but got little help. Since taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Blood Purifier and Liver Pills she has improved so much that she feels and looks like another girl."—Mrs. C. Cole, Fitchville, Ohio.

Irassburg, Vermont.—"I feel it my duty to say a few words in praise of your medicine. When I began taking it I had been very sick with kidney and bladder troubles and nervous prostration. I am now taking the sixth bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find myself greatly improved. My friends who call to see me have noticed a great change."—Mrs. A. H. Sanborn, Irassburg, Vermont.

We will pay a handsome reward to any person who will prove to us that these letters are not genuine and truthful—or that either of these women were paid in any way for their testimonials, or that the letters are published without their permission, or that the original letter from each did not come to us entirely unsolicited.

What more proof can any one ask?

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

THE QUAKER DOCTOR.

—Doctor Garbutt, the well known and successful specialist, who has been traveling in Wisconsin for the last ten years, has arranged to visit Grand Rapids every four weeks and may be consulted at the Dixon House, Saturday and Sunday, June 11, 12 Doctor Garbutt graduated from the highest medical colleges of Europe and America, and has had over thirty years experience. He confines his practice to chronic or long standing diseases, nervous disorders of children, and skin diseases, in the treatment of which he is eminently successful. Consultation and advice is free to all, and his terms for treatment are so reasonable as to be within the reach of all sick people. Here are a few extracts from thousands of letters he has on file sent to him by grateful patients, who request the contents to be made public; otherwise no letter is ever published:

"I am indeed thankful to you for your wonderful treatment. I walked two miles in the country, picked a large pile of berries and walked back again. When I came to you I could not walk two blocks and often could not move out of the house for weeks, and I had been in that condition for five years. My prayer is that others suffering as I have may go to you for help, for I know you can cure them. You may use this letter in public, for I wish other sick people to be helped as I was. Truly yours, Mrs. Adam Schmoecker, Medford, Ladies.

Ladies, who are in doubt of an operation should try my treatment for a month. "Am feeling fine, I have no more pain in my head, no dizzy spells, or weak feelings, or back aches like I had before. You are the best doctor that ever struck Medford, and you can use this letter and my name in public, for I want everybody to know you. Very truly yours, Mrs. E. Williams, Medford.

"I want to let you know I feel quite well now, and am very thankful to you for what you have done, Anton Brosi, Medford."

"It is with great pleasure I write to inform you of the wonderful improvement in my daughter's health. I feel that I can never thank you enough for I believe she would not have been alive today if it had not been for you.—If my name will be any benefit to you please use it. Mrs. R. E. Moore, Eau Claire.

"My whole body was covered with a scaly eruption that tortured me night and day. I spent hundreds of dollars on hospitals and doctors, but got no relief. I have improved ever since I began your treatment three months ago, and now I feel like a new man and life is worth living. I want everybody to know this. F. E. Daniels, Menasha.

"Accept a mother's blessing for your skillful treatment of my daughter, Abbie, who saved the life of my child, and may the Lord bless and keep you, and make His face to shine upon you and give you peace. Your thankful friend, Mrs. Emily Mosefield, Appleton.

"Since taking your treatment I have been getting better and stronger every day, all pain has gone. I eat and sleep well and have gained eight pounds. Use my name if you wish, Otto Ribbeck, Sheboygan Falls. "I am quite well now and am indeed thankful for your treatment. Miss Melvina Yunk, Marinette.

"Our boy's daily and nightly troubles are gone, he has perfect control of himself now and has gained four pounds in two weeks. Mrs. V. Robles, Fond du Lac.

"I write this to thank you for your skillful treatment, my wife is quite well now and I wish you to publish this. Birthel Mersborg, Elkhart Lake.

"My boy has not wet the bed since your treatment. He eats and sleeps well, and everybody notices his rosy cheeks. Minnie Borchard, Greenleaf.

"Your treatment has been the greatest success and I have not the least pain anywhere. Many thanks for your help. Rose Bodmark, Eau Claire.

"I am very grateful for your treatment and am feeling fine now. Herman Arndt, Princeton.

"My daughter, from whom you removed the tumor, is perfectly well, and we are very thankful to you for your successful treatment. G. F. C. Dobbratz, Randolph.

"My stomach is all gone, my nostrils are clear, my hearing is restored and I have gained in weight and strength, you may use this letter as a testimonial, for I advise all sick and suffering people to come to you. Miss Hattie Borth, Sheboygan.

"Leland feels fine and sleeps well all night—thousands of worms passed from him; he eats like a thrasher. Mrs. E. Lohr, Hartford.

"My hand is entirely cured, and am feeling well and strong. Henry Schwede, Hartford."

NEKOOSA.

(From the Times.)

Nekoosa school keepers have agreed to present a petition to the village board at its next meeting on Tuesday evening, June 7, asking that Ordinance No. 10, relating to the closing of saloons at certain hours, be amended, permitting them to open the saloons at 5 o'clock a. m. and close at 12:30 o'clock on all secular days. The saloon keepers also desire to keep the back doors open from 5 o'clock to 9:30 o'clock Sunday mornings and from noon until 10:30 p. m. If H. C. The Nekoosa postoffice is now located in the new building erected for that purpose on Market street next to S. A. Davis' drug store. Postmaster Jayman took advantage of the closing hours on Decoration day to move the fixtures so that the change was effected without any inconvenience to the public. The new location is a great improvement over the former place.

Neal Owens sold his 80 acre farm in the town of Rome to Mrs. Addie Scott of Illinois. One, Bond has had charge of the place for Mr. Owens. Mrs. Henry E. Fitch and daughter, Josephine, left last evening for a visit with relatives and friends at St. Louis, Mo.

PITTSVILLE.

(From the Record.)

Talk about frogs of nature, there are few of the Record's readers who are aware, perhaps, that there is one down at Dexterville in the possession of Postmaster (Geo. Elberg). It is a real with two heads. The front end of the two heads is very plain, but there are, however, but two eyes and two ears to this wonderful animal. There are two noses with four nostrils and the muzzle out of the head is very broad and flat. Other than the peculiarities of the head the little animal is perfectly formed. It was born at Dexterville years ago, perhaps some of the older residents remember it, and was secured by Mr. Elberg who had it mounted. It lived but a few hours after birth.

The ladies of the Aid society met with Mrs. G. H. Davies last Thursday at her 30th wedding anniversary. She was presented with a beautiful tablecloth in token of their esteem of the work and interest she has always taken in the church work. Dainty refreshments were served and all returned home from a very pleasant afternoon spent on the well kept premises of G. H. Davies and wife. There were about 25 present.

Geo. Brown returned from Dakota Saturday, having filed on a piece of land. He intended to stay out there until everything was finished up regarding the land, but says it would take a millionaires to remain long in that country where everybody not a resident is a mark for overcharge in every line. He claims that a bed cannot be had in any of the towns for less than a dollar a night, and that provisions are equally as dear.

The matter of the Yellow River bridge across Yellow river between the towns of Rock and Richfield has been settled by the regular committee appointed by the county board. Accompanied by M. W. The bridge is a 1200 foot span and was built jointly by the towns of Rock and Richfield.

Miss Moody and Miss Gault are spending a few days at "Grandalia." "Grandalia" may mean an unknown city, as a matter of fact it would be a hard thing to find a city by that name. It is not like Grand Rapids; this name can be found frequently. As Grand Rapids, Michigan, is one of the most beautiful and prosperous cities of the state, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin might be looked upon as a little flag station. Therefore every person in our thriving city of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin should do all he possibly can to make this town a well known and up to date city by calling it "Grandalia."

Mr. R. F. Kelley, Springfield, Ill., writes: "A year or 1 1/2 ago I began to be troubled with my kidneys and bladder, which grew worse until I became alarmed at my condition. I suffered with dull heavy headaches and the action of my bladder was annoying and painful. I read of Foley's Kidney Pills and after taking them a few weeks the headaches left me, the action of my bladder was again normal, and I was free of all distress." John E. Hill Co. and J. E. Daly.

THE QUAKER DOCTOR.

—Doctor Garbutt, the well known and successful specialist, who has been traveling in Wisconsin for the last ten years, has arranged to visit Grand Rapids every four weeks and may be consulted at the Dixon House, Saturday and Sunday, June 11, 12. Doctor Garbutt collects of Europe and America, and has had over thirty years experience. He confines his practice to chronic or long standing diseases, nervous disorders of children, and skin diseases, in the treatment of which he is eminently successful. Consultation and advice is free to all, and his terms for treatment are so reasonable as to be within the reach of all sick people. Here are a few extracts from thousands of letters he has on file sent to him by grateful patients, who request the contents to be made public; otherwise no letter is ever published:

"I am indeed thankful to you for your wonderful treatment. I walked two miles in the country, picked a large pile of berries and walked back again. When I came to you I could not walk two blocks and often could not move out of the house for weeks, and I had been in that condition for five years. My prayer is that others suffering as I have may go to you for help, for I know you can cure them. You may use this letter in public, for I wish other sick people to be helped as I was. Thankfully yours, Mrs. Adam Schmoecker, Medford, Ladies.

Ladies, who are in dread of an operation should try my treatment for a month.

"Am feeling fine, I have no more pain in my head, no dizzy spells, or weak feelings, or back aches like I had before. You are the best doctor that ever struck Medford, and I can use this letter and my name in public, for I want everybody to know you. Very truly yours, Mrs. E. Williams, Medford.

"I want to let you know I feel quite well now, and am very thankful to you for what you have done. Anton Brost, Medford."

"It is with great pleasure I write to inform you of the wonderful improvement in my daughter's health. I feel that I can never thank you enough for I believe she would not have been alive today if it had not been for you.—If my name will be any benefit to you please use it.

Mrs. B. H. Moore, Eau Claire.
"My whole body was covered with a scaly eruption that tortured me night and day. I spent hundreds of dollars on hospitals and doctors, but got no relief. I have improved ever since I began your treatment three months ago, and now I feel like a new man and life is worth living. I want everybody to know this.

P. E. Daniels, Manassas.
"Accept a mother's blessing for your skillful treatment of my daughter. Again, you saved the life of my child, and may the Lord bless and keep you, and make his face shine upon you and give you peace.

Your thankful friend,
Mrs. Emily Masfield, Appleton.

"Since taking your treatment I have been getting better and stronger every day, all pain has gone. I eat and sleep well and have gained eight pounds. Use my name if you wish.

Otto Ritbeck, Sheboygan Falls.
"Am quite well now and am indeed thankful for your treatment.

Miss Melvina Yunk, Marinette.
"Our boy's daily and nightly troubles are gone, he has perfect control of himself now and has gained four pounds in two weeks.

Mrs. V. Roble, Fond du Lac.
"I write this to thank you for your skillful treatment, my wife is quite well now and I wish you to publish this.

Birthe Morsbey, Elkhardt Lake.
"My boy has not wet the bed since your treatment. He eats and sleeps well, and everybody notices his rosy cheeks. Mine's Edward, Greenleaf.

"Your treatment has been the greatest success and I have not the least pain anywhere. Many thanks for your help.

Rose Bednard, Eau Claire.
"I am very grateful for your treatment and am feeling fine now.

Herman Arndt, Princeton.
"My daughter, from whom you removed the tumor, is perfectly well, and we are very thankful to you for your successful treatment.

G. F. C. Dohbratz, Randolph.
"My catarrh is all gone, my nostrils are clear, my hearing is restored and I have gained in weight and strength, you may use this letter as a testimonial, for I advise all sick and suffering people to come to you.

Miss Elsie Borth, Sheboygan.
"Leland feels fine and sleeps well all night—thousands of worms passed from him; he eats like a shrew.

"My hand is entirely cured, and am feeling well and strong.

Henry Schwede, Hartford.
REMEMBER THE DATE, DIXON HOUSE, JUNE 11, 12.

Mr. E. Weakley, Kokomo, Ind., says: "After taking Foley Kidney Pills, the severe backache left me, my kidneys became stronger, the secretions natural and my bladder no longer pained me. I am glad to recommend Foley Kidney Pills." In a yellow envelope, Johnson & Hill Co. and J. E. Daly.

NEKOOSA.

(From the Times.)

Nekoosa saloon keepers have agreed to present a petition to the village board at its next meeting on Tuesday evening, June 7, asking that Ordinance No. 10, relating to the closing of saloons at certain hours, be amended, permitting them to open the saloons at 5 o'clock a. m. and close at 12:30 o'clock on all regular days. The saloon keepers also desire to keep the back doors open from 5 o'clock to 9:00 o'clock Sunday morning and from noon until 10:30 p. m. on all regular days.

H. H. Goster and family arrived yesterday from Downer's Grove, Ill., to locate on the old Marvin Lynn farm in the town of Port Edwards. The family drove all the way, camping along the road.

Miss Carrie McGroedy of Portage, a trained nurse from the Tomah hospital, has been nursing at the Voss home the past ten days. Frederick Voss is getting along nicely with a good chance for recovery.

The Nekoosa postoffice is now located in the new building erected for that purpose on Market street next to S. A. Denis' drug store. Postmaster Lapham took advantage of the closing hours on Decoration day to move the fixtures so that the change was effected without any inconvenience to the public. The new location is a great improvement over the former place.

Neal Cronin sold his 80 acre farm in the town of Rome to Mrs. Adeline Scott of Illinois. Chas. Reed has had charge of the place for Mr. Cronin. Mrs. Henry E. Pich and daughter, Josephine, left last evening for a visit with relatives and friends at St. Louis, Mo.

PITTSVILLE.

(From the Record.)

Talk about franks of nature, there are few of the Record's readers who are aware, perhaps, that there is one down at Dexterville in the possession of Postmaster Geo. Ellner. It is a large pile of berries and walked back again. When I came to you I could not walk two blocks and often could not move out of the house for weeks, and I had been in that condition for five years. My prayer is that others suffering as I have may go to you for help, for I know you can cure them. You may use this letter in public, for I wish other sick people to be helped as I was. Hundreds of Grand Rapids Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

Thomas Duran, 220 Eighth St. N., Grand Rapids, Wis., says: "I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills very highly as I have used them with great benefit. Miss Moody and Miss Gault are spending a few days at "Grandalia." "Grandalia" may seem an unknown city, as a matter of fact it would be a hard thing to find a city by that name. It is not like Grand Rapids; this name can be found frequently. As Grand Rapids, Michigan, is one of the most beautiful and prosperous cities of the state, Grand Rapids, Wisconsin might be looked upon as a little flag station. Therefore every person in our thriving city of Grand Rapids, Wisconsin should do all he possibly can to make this town a well known and up to date city by calling it "Grandalia."

Miss Ellen Hjerstedt returned from Chicago where she has been learning the dress making trade.

Chas. Henke and family, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Henke and Wm. Witt and family attended the Lutheran confirmation services in your city last Sunday.

John McGarr of DeKalb, Ill., was in our town last week.

Rev. and Mrs. Krusche and Mr. and Mrs. John Rickmann Mr. and Mrs. Goldberg and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Priebnow of your city spent Sunday at the C. W. Rickmann home.

Sand Hill and Kellner again crossed bats on the home diamond, the score being 4 to 10 in favor of the Sand Hill team. The game was umpired by John Krusche, who did fairly well, but a little more study on the rules will improve him very much, which will be done very soon.

Walter Turban left for Minneapolis last week.

Lame shoulder is almost invariably caused by rheumatism of the muscles and yields quickly to the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. This Liniment is not only prompt and effective, but in no way disagreeable to use. Sold by all dealers.

G. H. Munroe, Emil Knipfle and John Yetter went fishing last week. Well they got some, but if they thought or caught them is hard to tell, but the former is considered to be the case because G. H. Munroe took a quarter along and when he came back it was gone.

Fred Turban, who has been at Merrill for some time, is visiting at his home here.

Mrs. Aug. Saenger went to Vesper last Saturday to visit for a time.

Martin Joels and John Krusche attended the class play at the Lincoln high school Wednesday evening and also the graduating exercises on Friday evening. Mrs. Wm. Witt also attended the play on Wednesday evening, her brother being one of the graduates.

Miss Moody, teacher to the Gaults district, finished her school term last Wednesday. Her many friends hope to see her back next term.

Misses Winger left for Beloit last Tuesday where they will visit for some time.

Anyone in need of a thoroughly rebuilt buggy call and see Mr. Winger, the blacksmith.

Mr. Jensen of Waupaca was in our village with his auto last week.

VESPER.
Our school which has had a very successful term under the able management of Geo. Varney, principal, and Miss Myrtle Rowland, teacher, will close Friday, June 10th with an old fashioned school picnic to which all the people in the district and surrounding country are cordially invited. Come one, come all, and make this picnic a regular educational rally. No matter where you live, you will be given the "glad hand and warm heart" welcome at our picnic Friday, June 10.

Safe and Sane Fourth.
The annual property loss caused by Fourth of July fireworks, and the many fatalities and large number of accidents due to the same cause induced us to again send out the annual warning to the people of the state.

As a result of the celebration of the last "barbarous Fourth" two hundred boys and girls lost their lives, and one hundred and seventy-one lost one or more fingers, not to mention other fatalities and serious accidents.

Ten had fires were reported to us last year caused by fireworks.

In all the excitement and needless noises of the "barbarous Fourth," we fail to see one thought of patriotism beyond the occasional "spread-eagle" oration, delivered in competition with the noises of "Young America."

We have both warned and instructed in previous bulletins; we must suggest a remedy.

First. We would urge upon commercial bodies, civic organizations, and city governments the necessity of providing for a safe and sane Fourth, as we have no desire to rob "Young America" of this celebration.

These bodies can provide games, amusements and exercises for children, which will be more likely to instill the valuable lessons of patriotism, but will not be fraught with danger to life, limb and property.

One year ago the city of St. Paul entertained 10,000 children on Harriet's Island without one single accident worthy of note. What St. Paul has done, other cities can do. Who will lead?

The four cities of Washington, Cleveland, Baltimore and Toledo, with a safe and sane Fourth, last year showed a total of twelve accidents. Four other cities, New York, Boston, Philadelphia and St. Louis, with practically no Fourth of July restrictions, showed a total of one thousand three hundred ninety-five accidents for the same day.

Second. As a further remedy we urge that the existing laws and the local ordinances on the subject of fireworks be strictly enforced.

We call attention to Section 100 of the statutes of this state, being Chapter 140 of the Session Laws of 1905. This law prohibits the sale, manufacture and importation into the state of all fireworks containing dynamite, chlorate of potash or other explosive, except ordinary gunpowder. It further prohibits the sale or keeping for sale of any fireworks over five inches in length and seven-eighths of an inch in diameter. A severe penalty is provided for the violation of this law.

The mayor and police officers of the various cities should see to the enforcement of this law and of any ordinances on the subject in their respective cities.

Third. As a further safeguard for the future it is our intention to prepare and submit to city governments an ordinance to prohibit the sale of all dangerous fireworks and pyrotechnic displays.

Such ordinance can be passed in time to act as a warning to merchants not to lay in prohibited fireworks for future years.

Fourth. Whenever public celebrations are held and fireworks and pyrotechnic displays used, we recommend, that such celebrations be held in parks, where valuable property will not be exposed, and under the supervision of adults.

We trust that the intelligent citizenship of the state, and city governments and civic societies, will aid us along these lines to protect life, limb and property.

T. M. Partell, State Fire Marshal, June 1st, 1910.

At Grand Rapids One Day This Moon.

—On June 17th I will again come to Grand Rapids, and try and relieve all sufferers that come to me with their afflictions, especially you, who have consulted physician after physician without relief, with you I am anxious to consult, as I know there is relief for you. I have been coming to the Rapids for the past two years. Look up my record, if good, come and consult with me, if not satisfactory, then do not come near me. I use no medicine, no knife, as my power is greater than all these. I will be at the Witter House on above date.

What is a "Survey?"
"What is a tuberculosis survey?" What good does it accomplish? These and similar questions are frequently asked of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association since it was announced that the Milwaukee survey would be followed by similar work throughout the state.

"A problem cannot be solved until the conditions responsible for its existence are ascertained. To solve the great tuberculosis problem—to wipe out the disease—we must know what caused its existence and what permits it to continue. The cause once known, an attempt can then be made to remove them," says Dr. H. E. Dearhold, executive secretary of the association.

"A survey or investigation is simply taking inventory; learning the number of cases of tuberculosis; their location; conditions surrounding each, and determining the most economic method to be pursued in caring for the patients, all to the end of cure, prevention and cure."

"No family need have fear when asked for statistical information by an investigator. Individuality is lost; the family's record becomes but a unit in a bulk of information which is used as a basis for helping a community to meet its problem. The investigators are trained workers, coming with an earnest desire to do good. There is no temptation for them to gossip. All information obtained is held in the most sacred confidence."

Surveys are about to be made in a number of cities and the association earnestly requests each family in a locality under investigation to give information freely. There is no possibility of harm, but a certainty of great benefit in the making of a survey.

Gave Note for $1,000.
A year ago Martin Ehrhardt of Marshfield gave his note for $1,000 in payment for a block of oil stock. The agent who sold him the stock promised him that he could have his note back if he were dissatisfied with his bargain within a year. On investigation of his oil stock Ehrhardt became very much dissatisfied and demanded his note. It had, however, by that time passed into the hands of a third party, an innocent purchaser. As the result of a suit at law, Ehrhardt has just been ordered to pay the note and interest. The oil stock has practically no selling value so Ehrhardt is out about $1,000 in cash cash besides his law expenses and interest. The law of course protects the innocent purchaser of commercial paper.

Don't buy goods from strangers. Don't give your note to strangers. Don't accept oral exceptions to or explanations of written contracts.—Stevens Point Journal.

One year ago the city of St. Paul entertained 10,000 children on Harriet's Island without one single accident worthy of note. What St. Paul has done, other cities can do. Who will lead?

The four cities of Washington, Cleveland, Baltimore and Toledo, with a safe and sane Fourth, last year showed a total of twelve accidents. Four other cities, New York, Boston, Philadelphia and St. Louis, with practically no Fourth of July restrictions, showed a total of five accidents for the same day.

Second. As a further remedy we urge that the existing laws and the local ordinances on the subject of fireworks be strictly enforced.

We call attention to Section 4298 of the statutes of this state, being Chapter 140 of the Session Laws of 1905. This law prohibits the sale, manufacture and importation into the state of all fireworks containing dynamite, chlorate of potash or other explosive, except ordinary gunpowder. It further prohibits the sale or keeping for sale of any fireworks over five inches in length and seven-eighths of an inch in diameter. A severe penalty is provided for the violation of this law.

The mayor and police officers of the various cities should see to the enforcement of this law and of any ordinance on the subject in their respective city.

Third. As a further safeguard for the future it is our intention to prepare and submit to city governments an ordinance to prohibit the sale of all dangerous fireworks and pyrotechnic displays.

Such ordinance can be passed in time to act as a warning to merchants not to lay in prohibited fireworks for future years.

Fourth. Wherever public celebrations are held and fireworks and pyrotechnic displays used, we recommend that such celebrations be held in parks, where valuable property will not be exposed, and under the supervision of adults.

We trust that the intelligent citizenship of the state, and city governments and civic societies, will aid us along these lines to protect life, limb and property.

State Fire Marshal.

At Grand Rapids One Day This Moon.

—On June 17th I will again come to Grand Rapids, and try to relieve all sufferers that come to me with their afflictions, especially you, who have consulted physician after physician without relief, with you I am anxious to consult, as I know there is relief for you. I have been coming to the Rapids for the past two years. Look up my record, if good, come and consult with me, if not satisfactory, then do not come near me. I use no medicine, no knife, as my power is greater than all these. I will be at the Witter House on above date.

Phillip Yackel.

What is a "Survey?"
What is a tuberculosis survey? What good does it accomplish? These and similar questions are frequently asked of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association since it was announced that the Milwaukee survey would be followed by similar work throughout the state.

"A problem cannot be solved until the conditions responsible for its existence are ascertained. To solve the great tuberculosis problem—to wipe out the disease—we must know what caused its existence and what permits it to continue. The cause, once known, an attempt can then be made to remove them," says Dr. H. E. Dearholt, executive secretary of the association.

"A survey or investigation is simply a number of cases of tuberculosis; their location; conditions surrounding each, and determining the most economic method to be pursued in caring for the patients, all to the end of care, prevention and cure."

"A survey arouses physicians and boards of health to action. It promotes observance of health laws. The public is aroused to its problem, and is educated up to its ultimate solution."

"No family need have fear when asked for statistical information. It is an investigator. Individuality is lost; the family's record becomes but a unit in a bulk of information which is used as a basis for helping a community to meet its problem. The investigators are trained workers, coming with an earnest desire to do good. There is no temptation for them to gossip. All information obtained is held in the most sacred confidence."

Surveys are about to be made in a number of cities and the association earnestly under investigation to give information freely. There is no possibility of harm, but a certainty of great benefit in the making of a survey."

Gave Note for $1,000.
A year ago Martin Ehrhardt of Marshfield gave his note for $1,000 in payment for a block of oil stock. The agent who sold him the stock promised him that he could have his note back if he was dissatisfied with his bargain within a year. On investigation of his oil stock Ehrhardt became very much dissatisfied and demanded his note. It had, however, by that time, passed into the hands of a third party, an innocent purchaser. As the result of a suit at law, Ehrhardt has just been ordered to pay the note and interest. The oil stock has practically no selling value so Ehrhardt is out about $1,000 in cold cash besides his law expenses and interest. The law of course protects the innocent purchaser of commercial paper.

Don't buy goods from strangers. Don't give your note to strangers. Don't accept oral exceptions to no explanations of written contracts.—Stevens Point Journal.

We have been told that as long as we keep our hearts young we need have no fear of the depressing loneliness of advancing years, and many writers more or less experienced in such matters have suggested many ways in which we can accomplish that desired end. No two natures, however, are alike, and it follows that no set of hard and fast rules can be made to apply to each distinct personality. The man or woman who passes through life alive to the blessings which abound on every side rarely ceases to become an active contributor to the lives of others, and as long as a person actually participates in any work, large or small, the influence of his personality is bound to be felt and his counsel regarded. It is only when one has lost the zest of the game, or enters only half-heartedly into affairs outside of his own special interests that he ceases to exercise any influence, and his individuality is no longer recognized. Pathos and sadness in some way to be an attribute of the youthful character; and at any rate, it is far easier to become interested in what is going on in our immediate circle when the pulse beats high and the blood courses warmly than in later years when so many of us are concerned only with our own affairs and with the small interest in the doings of others.

In the good old days, they used to have neighbors at the roadside in the country region to point the pilgrim on his way. It was always a cheery sign. It spoke a welcome to the stranger. It indicated a disposition to be helpful. But these neighbors are nearly all gone. Only now and then you see one, and then it seems like the relic of a bygone friendship. It seems to say to the stranger: "We once took an interest in you, but we do no longer; if you don't know the way, what do we care?" That is the situation today; a forlorn one, indeed; a cheerless one. No little sign thrown out, saying: "We are thinking of you, we care for you, we want you to go right." Now, this ought not to be. There should be little neighbors to greet him, and to tell him the way he ought to go. This thought is getting some headway in Massachusetts, where there is an effort to restore the signboards, and to give to the stranger the help of knowing where he is.

There is a new reform out in Iowa, and it is started by 18 young ladies, prominent in social circles, who have at last discovered the absurdity that exists in mere gossip, and so they have organized to suppress it, says the Ohio State Journal. They call their organization the "Antigossip society." This is a fine effort. It means intellectual and moral uplift. It means that conversation shall deal with real things—history, nature and those things that adorn and uplift life. It is not to be thought of an instant that it is the young women alone that need to be reformed for this high purpose. The male section of mankind needs just such a reformatory movement. We might say they need it more than the women.

Major Gen. Leonard Wood, who is on his way as special envoy from the United States to the centenary celebration of the independence of the Argentine republic at Buenos Ayres, stopped at at Havana, where the former American governor of the island had a reception which left no doubt as to the place he holds in Cuban hearts. In fact, it may be said he showed them how to govern themselves, and the success they have attained is a tribute to the effectiveness of his lessons.

Two baseball fatalities in one day—due at Freeburg, Ill., and the other at Troy, N. Y.—will be cited by football enthusiasts as evidence that the gridiron is not the only place where sport is sufficiently violent at times to cause death. But if the number of the games and the thousands of players are taken into account, it will appear that the risks of baseball are infinitesimal in comparison with those of football.

In Japan, day laborers got 20 cents a day and women servants receive 84 cents a month. Our informant does not explain whether the women servants get Thursday afternoons off or not, but we suppose they do. Our indignation should be at once aroused if we thought they didn't.

The Californian who announces that he has developed an edible rose might now turn his attention, as other horticulturists have been urged to do, to the production of a scented onion.

Possibly it is no sin to play golf on Sunday, except on the theory that it is sinful to waste time on Sunday or any other day of the week.

The Egyptian tombs onto the New Jersey cold storage warehouses in all but quantity.

A scientist has discovered that there are three times as many germs in a plate of ice cream as there are in a kiss. Even that will not prevent a merger of them, when the season is fairly opened.

As Germany has plenty of soldiers it is comparatively easy to collect the remains of the steerable balloons that run away in the German sky.

Nobody is sorry when the weather man's frost predictions fall down.

Food was recently found in an Egyptian tomb where it had been buried for 8,000 years. Thus an honor is rudely snatched from New Jersey's cold storage warehouses.

King Menelik, who died the other day, is now reported as getting better. As a lively corpse he is an up-to-date success.

What a terrible thing life must be now to the man who hates every kind of sport!

UNCLE SAM DEFIED

AMERICAN SCHOONER IS BOARD-ED BY FORCE FROM NICARAGUAN GUNBOAT.

RIGHT OF SEARCH FORFEITED

Action Was in Defiance of Ruling From Washington—Commanders of United States War Vessels Expected to Act Promptly.

Bluefields, Nicaragua.—Defying a ruling by the United States government that the Nicaraguan government gunboat Venus had forfeited her right of search in view of men from that vessel Wednesday boarded and searched the American schooner, Enterprise, which flew the Stars and Stripes.

Following the search the Venus and the other Nicaraguan gunboat San Jacinto were seen approaching the Bluefields bluff. The American gunboat Paducah and Dulague were lying off Bluefields and it was expected here that their commanders would take prompt action.

Government forces attacked the Bluefields custom house, and administered a sharp defeat to the forces of General Estrada. The provisional army, or the section of it that was guarding the custom house, was driven back steadily on the city docks.

The sound of cannonading at Rama, 35 miles away, indicates that fighting is still going on there between the insurgents and the Madrid army. Couriers arriving here report that 100 already have been killed and 300 wounded.

The American marines guarding the United States consulate here are preparing for battle if the government forces enter the city. Machine guns are trained upon the streets by which the soldiers of Madrid might reach the United States consulate.

The attack upon the custom house on Bluefields bluff was begun by General Rama as soon as the government forces were joined by the 500 men landed at Pearl Harbor by the ill-fated boat, the Venus.

Chicago Firm Loses $700,000 by Manipulation of Consignments, Who Juggled Bills of Lading.

Chicago.—Juggling of warehouse receipts and railroad bills of lading, used in connection with the business of Durant & Plimor, grain operators, with offices in Chicago and Albany, N. Y., have caused the loss of $700,000, according to reports from the eastern city Monday. Consignments within the firm and outside accomplices are blamed for the alleged misappropriation, which involves, it is said, only the officials of the eastern branch. With W. Plimor, vice-president of the firm and head of the Chicago office departed for Albany last Friday in response to a telegram and still is there.

Money was obtained from banks in Albany and New York, it is said, on forged receipts and bills, and the institutions reported as involved are declared to be conducting an investigation seeking to place responsibility and to discover the exact amount of the discrepancy. Gibson Oliver, treasurer of the grain concern and manager of the Albany office, is reported to have made a statement of responsibility in connection with the alleged misappropriation and to have named Henry C. Palmer, a former employee of the Delmar and Hudson railway.

Wisconsin Senator Advocates Complete Reorganization of Interstate Commerce Commission.

Washington.—For five hours Senator La Follette of Wisconsin, standing on the floor of the senate, poured forth a torrent of abuse and castigation into the address of a statement of responsibility to the senate by Senator Gilman. He pleaded for the abolition of the commission offered by the insurgents as a means of wiping out the sins of past congresses. He said that all railroad laws up to date were in the interest of the railroads, and advocated a complete reorganization of the Interstate Commerce commission.

"The Interstate commerce commission is engaged in a mere child's play," said Mr. La Follette, adding that it was so loaded about that it could not effectively deal with the problem.

While the rate regulation provision of the president's original bill was in the pocket, Mr. La Follette said, the provision had been modified by Senators Aldrich and McKim wholly in the interest of the railroads.

THE EASTMAN COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

The largest crowd that ever witnessed a baseball game in this city assembled at the new ball park last Sunday afternoon to see the contest between Grand Rapids and Merrill. It was the general opinion that Merrill would eat up but nothing of that sort happened whatever. Foster pitched ball right from the start and retired Merrill without a run. Shrinor started off the batting list for Grand Rapids and got to the first cushion safe, when along comes Smokey with his usual three banger and Shrinor crossed the rubber for the first score. Nelson and LaRoux made the round trip in the second, making the score 2 to 0 for the home team.

In the third, Summerville landed on the ball and it bounded through a hole under the left field fence which gave him the opportunity of getting back home without any layover.

In the 8th Ditzler did the three base stunt again and with the assistance of his fellow workers at bat, was able to cross home plate for the 4th score. In the 9th Merrill went out for blood and succeeded in getting one more run but that's all, which finished the game with a score of 1 to 2 in favor of Grand Rapids.

The weather was very favorable which helped the players considerably as well as making it pleasant for the spectators.

Foster sent twelve men back to the camp while VanVatter was not so fortunate and got but nine. Progression of the new catcher, who in the game all the time and shot out down to trusty John on second so fast that John had to wait a week for the follow to get there that was trying to touch. Nelson was all over the infield backing up Corrigan on second and Shrinor on third who was picking them out of the dirt as fast as they came his way. Stormy covered first bag nicely and the game in general was fast and furious, just what the fans want and will have for the rest of the season. The same teams cross bats at Merrill next Sunday.

The lineup is as follows:

Grand Rapids	Merrill
Shrinor	3rd Summerville
Ditzler	1st Schram
Fragesser	1st Pappenhans
Kroner	1st Kauriz
Nelson	1st Talbot
LaRoux	1st Schraeder
Bronnan	2nd Moise
Corrigan	2nd Fries
Foster	1st VanVatter

Grand Rapids Takes Big Game.

The largest crowd that ever witnessed a baseball game in this city assembled at the new ball park last Sunday afternoon to see the contest between Grand Rapids and Merrill. It was the general opinion that Merrill would cut us up, but nothing of the sort happened whatever. Foster pitched ball right from the start and retired Merrill without a run. Shriver started off the batting list for Grand Rapids and got to the first cushion safe, when along comes Smokey with his usual three banger and Shriver crossed the rubber for the first score. Nelson and LaRoux made the round trip in the second, making the score 3 to 0 for the home team.

In the third, Summerville landed on the ball and it bounded through a hole under the left field fence which gave him the opportunity of getting back home without any layover.

In the 8th Ditzler did the three base stunt again and with the assistance of his fellow workers at bat, was able to cross home plate for the 4th score. In the 9th Merrill went out for blood and succeeded in getting one more run but that's all, which finished the game with a score of 4 to 2 in favor of Grand Rapids.

The weather was very favorable which helped the players considerably as well as making it pleasant for the spectators.

Foster sent twelve men back to the camp while VanPatter was not so fortunate and got but nine. Fragerose the new catcher, was in the game all the time and shot one down to trudy John on second so fast that John had to wait a week for the fellow to get there that was trying to steal. Nelson was all over the infield backing up Corrigan on second and Shriver on third who was picking them out of the dirt as fast as they came his way. Shriver covered first bag nicely and the game in general was fast and furious, just what the fans want and will have for the rest of the season. The same teams cross bats at Merrill next Sunday.

The lineup is as follows:

Grand Rapids	3rd	Summerville
Shriver	1st	Schum
Ditzler	2nd	Poppenhans
Fragerose	3rd	Kraus
Kraus	4th	Talbot
Nelson	5th	Schraider
LaRoux	6th	Moore
Brennan	7th	Freis
Corrigan	8th	VanPatter
Foster	9th
